recasts the commonly dismissed colonial project pursued in hokkaido during the meiji era 1868 1912 as a major force in the production of modern japan s national identity imperial ideology and empire

this thesis examines how historical social and political factors influence the creation of literary space focusing on representations of the northern japanese island of hokkaido in modern japanese literature the works examined below are set in hokkaido from the 1880s to the 1930s and they all exhibit a certain ambiguous duality this ambiguity derives from hokkaido s dual position as an internal colony simultaneously being both within sovereign borders and without as a colonial space given its status as an internal colony however the tension between naichi mainland japan and hokkaido gives rise to issues over national and ethnic authenticity these issues of authenticity and belonging are encoded spatially in the texts and in the dialectical relationship between naichi and hokkaido japanese authenticity itself is created questioned or reaffirmed because of its nature these works make up the first corpus of colonial literature of japan after the introduction the works of kunikida doppo 1871 1908 arishima takeo 1878 1923 kobayashi takiji 1903 1933 it sei 1905 1969 and honj mutsuo 1905 1939 will be examined provides students and researchers with a much needed comprehensive resource on the subject of colonialism and expansion from a global perspective the set traces many facets of colonial growth and imperialism and much more
